APARTMENT SMOKE ALARM INSPECTION

Smoke alarms are the first line of defense in the case of an apartment fire. The California Building Code requires that all apartment units have an operating smoke alarm. While the responsibility to provide a smoke alarm in each apartment falls on the apartment owner; the task to ensure that a working smoke alarm is located in every apartment unit rests mainly with the apartment manager. The manager, in cooperation with the apartment tenants, plays a major role in ensuring that this level of safety is achieved.

The Clovis Fire Department is asking all apartment managers/owners to take an active part in this yearly inspection. You are being asked to visit each one of your apartment units and to check that all smoke detectors are operating and maintained properly. When you have completed checking all apartments, please complete this form to verify all of the apartments have a working smoke alarm.
